Comment By The Associated Press seacoastonline.com By The Associated Press Posted Feb. 28, 2013 at 8:00 PM By The Associated Press Posted Feb. 28, 2013 at 8:00 PM EAST HAMPTON, N.H. A high school softball player was heading to a medical helicopter waiting to take her to the hospital after an umpire thought she was hit in the head with a ball and tossed her. A spokeswoman for the New Hampshire Union Leader says the foul tip hit the player above her left ear. The stinger caused a nasty gash from the hairline down to the cheek. She was taken to Exeter Hospital and treated and released. Medical personnel weren't at the game, but her family says a local sports medicine doctor witnessed the accident and helped treat her. New Hampshire Union Leader publisher J.C. Foster says the first baseman was scolded by an umpire for allegedly blocking the plate and apparently kicked
