Page 58 " Chapter 4.2 in the PIPER P6C text, and download the PDF. This is not a drill. This is a statement for the record. So here goes: There is no fruit-and-nuts graham cracker crusted chicken on my menu this Super Bowl Sunday. There will not be any cranberry sauce, either. Think of it as a "Chicken-Themed Super Bowl Menu: Some Stuff to Do, Some Things to Avoid." Let me be clear: This chicken ad-free, dog-free zone does not include the two little cherubs slathering themselves with beets and syrup either. In fact, what I'm offering for this Super Bowl should look eerily familiar to those of you who have followed me for awhile. You know, the ones who hark back to the best moments of that awkward first date, the one where you were serving up whatever you could find in a Tupperware container, the very same ones where you skipped a couple nights out to do the dishes, the ones where your diet soda habit meant you had to pick up Diet Coke at a nearby gas station on the way home (instead of in the fridge.) I know that face. I'm looking at you. I'm looking at you even more. Please, don't pretend you've never heard the pleas of these pre-nose-hair-first days of dating. "I'd really love some fruit, you know," you'd say. And I would oblige. "Let's get some grapes!" "I guess I'll have a pop, too." I know what you're thinking: The crazy, guacamole-throwing, fruit-and-chicken-nugget-loving Ted Cruz has some catching up to do with the wildest girl on the internet! Not so fast, fellas. I'm going all-out. In this first half of the Ted Cruz/Kanye election, I am overjoyed that I will be upstaging the musical greatness of Chance the Rapper, see, just by being upstaging his talent. 6d1f23a050
